Stranger Danger

It is a shame that in today's society we must alert our children to the dangers of talking to anyone that we aren't well acquainted with, especially strangers. In days past, we taught our children to respond politely to all, including senior citizens. Today we must tell our children that an unfamiliar person that may well look like a grandparent could actually be a dangerous abductor. Children should never talk to a stranger without their parent beside them. Something that seems like a kind thing to do, like helping a person find a cute, lost puppy or kitten is really a dangerous situation that must be avoided. Occasionally at the dojo, throughout the year we will discuss some of these situations and role-play some simulations with the kids.
